

Doing nothing is costing your practice.

Don't wait to access the value-based care benefits an Aledade ACO can deliver to your practice.

The national shift toward value-based care is here to stay. As a result, primary care practices are struggling to stay competitive, protect their independence, and deliver care to their patients.

See how Aledade's physician-led Accountable Care Organizations (ACOs) position primary care practices to thrive in the value-based care setting both financially and independently while improving patient outcomes.
